HEAD CLOVEN BY SWEEP OF SWORD

Young Japanese Soldier Is Slain by Officer in Presence of His Bride.

Nokio, May 3.—The story of a trafrom three different sources, but which cannot be vouched for, has the dag of truth to any one who undersands the Japanese character. Here

When one of the regiments was enter ulting in the vicinity of Kobe, a young pan who had been called to the colors cama newly uniformed, to the train, blowed by his mother and sisters and he bride of a few days. Generally the m bamboos and shout "Banzal" when a soldier goes to fight for the mother and sisters suntry, but the mother and staying and dry-eyed and held out no staying and full of and for her husband, wept. With tears and clung appealingly to her bands arm. Impatiently the offi-in command ordered him to board out he lingered, and the tears entrain, but the young man maiden clung to each other and it. Then suddenly there was a flash seel, a crunching sound, and, as the of spurted over a shricking maiden, corps of a soldier fell to the cement, the head cloven to the chin by the of the officer's sword.

GEORGE, DEAR, WE WILL SOON MARRY

Change in Anti-Marriage By-Law of New York Board of Education Boon to Schoolmarms.

TEW YORK, May 3.-Rumors have reached the Board of Education, since action was taken or Wednesday afternoon making it inoffensive for women teachers to marry, that many hundred attractive young schoolmarms are about to take immediate advantage of their new privilege. Of the 12,600 women employed in the school system, about 4000 or 5000 have been graduated from the training schools only three or four years. These and many more are not yet past the age of 25 years, and some of them are even younger. Combined with their youth, their attractiveness is enhanced by their financial possibilities, Hundreds of young fellows, it is well understood, have been awaiting the happy day when their salary equaled that of some fair teachers to pop the question. Hundreds of the schoolmarms have long been engaged to marry when George's or Charlie's pay had reached the possible mark. It is said, with no uncertain voice, that the money question will be very shortly settled now. One important woman official of the Board of Education ventured so far as to assert that all the women in the employ of the department would now.

employ of the department would now be getting married. The anti-marriage by-law of the board still retains its former character, but the sting has been taken out of its tail. It still prohibits the marriage of women teachers, but it no longer pro-vides that charges may be preferred against those who transgress the pro-hibition. The committee on elementary schools recommended the amendment of the by-law under virtual compulsion. "I think that the public will be sorry that we have taken this step." said Commissioner M. Dwight Collier, a member of the committee. "The public has long been in favor of the retention of married teachers, and now it has got what it wants. Twenty years ago such retention proved highly unsatisfactory and resulted in many scandals, and I believe that our present action will have the same effect."
